Dance Committee Hopes To Contract Gene Krupa

Drummer's Band Tentatively Signed To Furnish Music For May Dance

By Paul D. Carre

Drumbruiser Gene Krupa and his band have been tentatively booked for the May Day dance to be held here April 30 under joint sponsorship of the Fraternity Association and the Pan Hellenic Council.

Though final contracts have not been inked and returned, one Dance Committee spokesman quoted $1,500 as the bed-rock outlay for Krupa's one-nighter and said that the campus fraternities have been asked to submit a budget for decorations.

Fraternity and sorority proposals would set at $3.50 the advance ticket price and $4.00 the cost at the door. The Dance Committee will underwrite the cost of the band. Any profit will go into the dance fund, and, should there be a deficit, the fraternities and the sororities will foot the bill.

Four Formals A Year

Aside from its disclosure of Krupa's expected billing for the May Day formal, the Dance Committee announced plans to hold four college formals a year, Homecoming and Mid-winters during the fall session, and the May Day dance and June Finals in the second semester.

The Dance Committee issued a firm ruling which would spike the efforts of any class or campus group to sponsor "large formal dances." This would hold to four the number of all-out hops slated on the annual college social calendar.

Renowned For Styling

Krupa's name is a perennial coin-getter on the social register of the entertainment world. Famed for his individual drum stylings and often called the "nation's number-one drummerman," the bandleader has managed to hold a sizeable following over the years. Better-than-average sidemen have consistently backed his unmistakable beat.

Krupa "classics" include such popular scorings as Lover, Gene's Boogie and Drum Boogie. The versatility of the Krupa combo is evident in its effortless switch from a characteristic rapid-fire tempo to one smoothly danceable and well adapted to the current demand for slow mood pieces.

U.S. Army Will Show Jap Propaganda Film

Through the courtesy of the United States Army organized reserve and the local Strategic Intelligence Unit, the Japanese propaganda film, China Night, will be shown in Washington 200 at 8 P. M. tomorrow.

"This film is an unusually good Japanese production, and it was prepared as propaganda for the Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere," declared Dr. W. Warner Moss, head of the government department. The film was so arranged as to permit separate endings to be shown in Japan, China, and Indonesia. The music carries a melody which has been quite popular with the Americans who have heard it. There will be a brief introduction concerning the nature of the film, and Earl Al-luisi will interpret the Japanese conversation where this is necessary to follow the sense of the film.

During the war the film proved useful in the training of persons who expected to serve in the Far East and in the preparation of propaganda.

Dr. John E. Pomfret Announces Plans For Expansive Program Of Construction

Women Will Choose New Executive Heads In Election Tomorrow

Women students will vote in the three large dormitories tomorrow afternoon from 4-6 P. M. for the president, vice-president and treasurer of the Executive Council and for three junior members of the Honor Committee.

At a Women Students' Government meeting held last night, Penny Allenbaugh, Lynn Graves and Dotsy Thedieck were nominated for president of the Executive Council. Girls nominated from the floor for vice-president were Caroline Geddy and Marcia MacKenzie. The senior nominating committee has chosen Nicky Dillard and Nancy Kurtz to run for this office. Joan Carpenter and Lee Renander were nominated for treasurer of the council to run with Sarah Enos and Mary Anne Woodhouse.

Girls nominated from the floor for junior members of the Honor Committee were Barbara Campbell, Connie Carhart, Elizabeth Daniels, Margie Pitchford, Lois Short and Kitty Trask. Jeanne Bamforth, Ruth Barnes, Yvonne Hickey, Patsy Jones, Shirley Lyons and Eleanor Seiler were nominated by the senior committee for this office. Three of these girls will be chosen to the Honor Committee when voting takes place tomorrow.

Women Surpass Men

According to figures released by Dr. Katharine R. Jeffers, dean of women, the number of women making dean's list exceeded the men by five per cent. Of the 635 women enrolled, 19 per cent acquired this honor, while 14 per cent of the 1307 men were rated.

Proposal Provides For Dormitory, Boathouse, Student Union Building

By Lb. Moore

A humanities building, student union, men's dormitory units, boathouse, and the completion of the fraternity lodges are included in a tentative five-year building development at William and Mary as announced recently by President John E. Pomfret. Included in this "immediate program," Dr. Pomfret said is a goal of $500,000 to be added to the Endowment Association which will be used for scholarships and faculty research.

The 1946 session of the Virginia State Legislature voted a $250,000 sum for the construction of the humanities building which is to be located in the Barrett hollow opposite Marshall-Wythe. The building will include features primarily for instruction in fine arts, such as skylighted rooms, sound proof piano studios, and a little theatre designed to seat 500 for musical programs and William and Mary Theatre productions.

"A real residence hall" was the way Dr. Pomfret described the proposed men's dormitory. The structure will be built in five units housing 60 men per unit with dining hall facilities on the ground floor. Plans call for the dormitory to be located on the site immediately east of Cary Field.

New Quadrangle

The student union for which funds are now being procured has been tentatively planned for the site just west of Taliaferro Hall where the Morris House and a private residence are now located. The union building will be set far back from the street forming a new campus quadrangle.

Completing the building program are the erection of a boat house on Matoaka lake and the completion of the fraternity lodges now being constructed in a court west of the road that runs between Chandler and Old Dominion Halls. Dr. Pomfret has suggested the possibility of making a swimming "crib" in Matoaka Lake which has now been declared uncontaminated but unsafe for swimming because of hazards on the lake bottom.

Fund For Faculty Aid

Observing that the academic reputation of a college depends a great deal upon the calibre of its faculty, Dr. Pomfret revealed his plans to swell the $115,000 Chancellor's fund to provide for faculty research and assistance. The Chancellor's Fund, originated in 1943, is part of the Endowment Association of the College of William and Mary which now controls $400,000 in endowments.

The Endowment Association, headed by Dr. Pomfret, is striving toward a goal of 500 scholarships which will require $1,000,000 addition to the present fund. It is the hope of the Association to obtain an additional $500,000 within the next five years.

As of June 30, 1947 the College had an endowment amounting to $1,725,000 which includes funds in both the Endowment Association and funds under the control of the Board of Visitors.

Rules For Dating Undergo Change

Approval of a WSCGA resolution granting that freshman and sophomore women be allowed to date until 12 midnight on Saturdays was given by the faculty advisors of the Judicial Committee at a meeting held last Wednesday.

The faculty advisory committee, composed of Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, assistant dean of women; Dr. Douglas G. Adair, associate professor of history; Dr. Albion G. Taylor, head of the department of economics; and Dr. Harold L. Fowler, professor of history, met with the members of the Judicial Committee and WSCGA President Shuz Sprague to discuss and act upon proposed changes in the social rules of the women students.

A discussion was held on the proposed amendment to the WSCGA Constitution which will provide that a five-vote margin be necessary for election to a WSCGA office. The necessity of holding a large number of run-off elections if the amendment were added led Dr. Taylor to propose that run-off elections be held only in the case of a tie or a one-vote margin.

Miss Wynne-Roberts declared that the suggestion that dormitories and sorority houses be open on Friday and Sunday nights until See DATING RULES, Page 9

Mid-winters Features Southpaw Violinist Johnny Long Will Play Friday Night

By Mary Lou Hostetter

Johnny Long, popular collegiate band leader, will come to William and Mary on March 5 to play for the annual Mid-winter dance.

A native of North Carolina, Long decided to be a musician at the tender age of five and not even an accident to his right arm prevented him from realizing his ambition. At ten he was acclaimed all through the Carolinas as a child virtuoso and did extensive concert work until he entered Duke University where he majored in English. Today he is one of a very few successful southpaw violinists in the world.

Organized At Duke

In 1931, a group of 11 Duke freshmen organized a co-operative band, calling themselves "The Freshman Orchestra." During mealtimes, they played in either the men's or women's dining halls for their meals. During the summers the band played at a resort in White Lake, N. C. For four years they appeared there, billed as "The Duke Freshmen," "The Duke Seniors," and finally as the

"Collegians," although the personnel remained the same.

After graduation, the band started off professionally with the aid of Hal Kemp, a fellow student. Long's rise in popularity has been a steady one. His first engagement in New York was at the Roseland Ballroom, stepping stone of most major bands. From there he moved to the Hotel New Yorker's Ice Terrace and the Commodore Hotel.

He is featured in Chicago and Hollywood at least once each year and his theater engagements cover over 20 other big cities. A Sigma Nu, he is constantly in demand to play for the various functions of the 98 chapters.

Famous Records

While recording for Decca, two of his records, A Shanty in Old Shanty Town and When I Grow Too Old to Dream, passed the million mark. His latest recordings for Signature, Paradise and Hawaiian War Chant, are listed in Billboard magazine's Top Ten Discs.

Tickets for the affair may be obtained at the door for five dollars on the night of the dance.

Long's band will play only for the Friday night dance. The college band will provide music for the Saturday night affair.

Long's fans may meet the maestro at Schmidt's Music Shop on Friday afternoon at four o'clock when he will be available for the purposes of granting autographs and personal interviews.

Endowments To College

Dr. Pomfret's announcement of a tentative five-year building program will gladly be received by everyone connected with William and Mary. The humanities building and the men's dormitory will greatly relieve the overcrowding caused by the college's tremendous increase in enrollment, while the proposed expansion of recreational facilities will provide a needed outlet for the students.

We think that the proposed building program is fine, but even more important to the students is "the goal of $500,000 to be added to the Endowment Association which will be used for scholarships and faculty research." The fund will be an incentive to faculty members to further their research. It has been pointed out to us that large universities maintain a faculty which does a great deal of research and spends fewer hours in actual teaching. At small colleges, such as ours, the faculty is composed of men and women who spend most of their academic hours in the classroom. The proposed fund will enable professors to strike a happy medium between their teaching duties and any research they wish to carry on.

The plan for the creation of 300 new scholarships, bringing the total to 500, is a welcome one. Though the present monetary awards are comparatively small, they will guarantee selective admissions, and when things get back to normal they may be just enough to allow some students to matriculate here when they otherwise could not attend college.

Letters To The Editor

Students Slam 'Bickerstaff's' Epistle

To the Editor:

Ordinarily, a newspaperman, by reason of his journalistic ethics, would hesitate to answer his critics publicly and in print. But since "Bickerstaff" has preferred to level his charges on a personal basis, this reporter believes himself eminently justified in taking up the gauntlet.

In criticism of the handling of the smoking story, "Bickerstaff" said, "Particularly skillful were the monologues imagined for Mr. Thomas Athey and Mr. John Dayton, although it seems, perhaps, a little cruel to assign to fellow students fictitious remarks of such ineptness."

This is not true. This reporter does not "imagine monologues" and does not "assign fictitious remarks" to his fellow students or to anyone else. Both Athey and Dayton, along with the other gentlemen quoted in the Flat Hat, were fully aware that their statements would appear in print. Their comments were wholly original.

"Bickerstaff" may know of reporters or newspapers which inspire, by artful questioning or other device, their news subjects to create front-page sensation. It is indefensible for him to imply that this, or any other Flat Hat reporter, would be allowed to invent or to inspire sensational copy.

Further, "Bickerstaff" complained that "so trivial a matter" should be "magnified by such solemnity." The Flat Hat article did not swell the mole hill. The issue was a mountain before this reporter was assigned to scour the precincts. Surely the subsequent student referendum has amply demonstrated that, to those most intimately concerned, the smoking issue was anything but "trivial." As for its treatment, the story was necessarily "solemn." The original statements made to the Flat Hat set the tone for the story. They very evidently need not have been "magnified."

Aside from scattered allusions to this reporter's "pretentiousness," "irony" and "immaturity," the central theme of "Bickerstaff's" letter was, in effect, that the treatment of the smoking story was "yellow journalism." This is a familiar criticism. Every reporter is destined at some time in his career to be tagged a sensationalist. But above all else, one fact stands clear. When public figures make public statement for public print, the story which includes their comments is not "yellow." It is "black and white, and read all over."

Respectfully,

Paul D. Carre.

To the Editor:

Bickerstaff was justified in expressing his opinion, in last week's Letters to the Editor, concerning the treatment of the "smoking" story, just as all of us are justified in expressing our opinions. It seems, however, unjustifiable to question the integrity of the Flat Hat. I refer to the following statement: "Particularly skillful were the monologues imagined for Mr. Thomas Athey and Mr. John Dayton, although it seems, perhaps, a little cruel to assign to fellow students fictitious remarks of such ineptness." If any imagining was done, it was not done by Mr. Carre but by Mr. Dayton and myself. The statements were solicited but not imagined. I should have been happy to enlighten Bickerstaff personally, had I believed such a person to exist and had I not felt it only fair to refute the statement in the pages of the same organ which carried it.

Lb. Moore Considers Alumni Endowments, 'I Don't Owe W&M A Thing' Attitude

A sagacious gentlemen once Day Gifts Fund, we can conclude William and Mary, while others commented that alumni are for but one unhappy fact; ours is an point out that the older element of the veterans in our college population contributes to inertia and disinterest. Others attribute our attitude to the administration which, they claim, has too little interest in the welfare and happiness of the students. Still others have been quick to assure us that most of the ills of our college could be remedied by better selection of students. "Better selection" being more consideration of the prospective freshman's high school record and more geographical spread.

But if we may be allowed to interpret the words of a sage, we might add that both the hell raising and endowing are fine if they can be combined with sincere loyalty to the college and active interest among past students in what is going on. Such loyalty would surpass alumni chapters which are active only during the football season or generous alums who raise funds for athletic projects. True, an athletic program is important to a college, and should have alum support, but it seems to us that the Alumni Association could and should be as concerned with other aspects of William and Mary, such as the faculty, physical plant and students. It may be important for William and Mary to have the champion football team in the Southern Conference, but it would be a bigger feather in our cap if we could boast of the best library in the south. Ideally we should have both. And ideally the past students should be equally concerned with both.

When 1,700 alumni out of 8,000 are willing to kick in $4.00 a year to belong to the Alumni Association and 393 out of 4,000 are willing to contribute to the Charter

Why? Can't Find Reason We cannot hope to find reason for the apathy among the alumni group alone; the problem originates in the undergraduate days of the present graduated group, it seems to us. Lasting loyalty and support of a graduate of any college cannot be created in an alumni office nor through an alumni association. These are only manifestations of a feeling which should have started during the days and grown right up to the time of graduation. This loyalty is, in a sense, an affection for William and Mary, for its aims and traditions. It is the kind of loyalty that choir members show for their organization, and sorority and fraternity members show for theirs.

But today, instead of a warm, loyal feeling toward our alma mater, we are generally negative. It is not what we have but what we have not that most concerns us. We do not look or plan for our college beyond the time when we march across the podium and shake hands with Dr. Pomfret. As a recent graduate put it, "I don't owe William and Mary a thing." And that attitude is quite typical. The illustrious graduate forgets, among other advantages, the fun and friends, and education he derived from a four-year trick at William and Mary.

The negative attitude is here and has been for quite a few years—few will question it. But we have found only varied and inconclusive reasons for this unfortunate attitude. Some suggest that there is no means for a community of thought or action at All Or None All or none of these reasons may be the cause of our negative attitude which reaps nothing but relative inactivity and non-support on the part of our alumni.

A method of acquiring a more positive attitude toward William and Mary is as difficult as an analysis of the lack of it. But it isn't impossible. It takes a long time to change a precedent, but we might make some headway if the more permanent members of the College, i. e., the faculty and administration, would, from the time of orientation, attempt to create a realization of William and Mary's heritage and aims among the students, if the Alumni Association through its campus office would inject itself more into all affairs of the college, and if student leaders would attempt to spread a little of the positive attitude around. Obviously, this persisting I-don't-owe-William-and-Mary-a-thing attitude is going to exist unless someone exerts some conscious effort to rid us of it. And in the meantime we are minus the good that comes of actively interested alumni.

William And Mary-Go-Round

Every time a new edition of the Flat Hat appears, I die a thousand deaths.

There are some who would be satisfied with one; but my figurative usage of the term is intended to convey the thought that I live in mortal fear of the fickle public's reactions to my latest effort.

Fortunately, or unfortunately, readers stop me on the street to offer their personal opinions of the G-Round. Comments range from "Putrid!" to "Magnifico!" (there's a Spanish teacher on campus who owes me money).

One striking feature of the comments is that they are never entirely unanimous, one way or the other. The closest I ever came to complete accord was with the column on the Royalist. Everyone extended congratulations with the exception of two girls and the president of the Society for the Preservation of Virginia Anti-Quities.

Last week's mad opus, l'affaire Varlet Mascara, was a source of both pleasure and pain to me. Some people thought it the greatest bit of satire since Jonathan Swift's Meditation Upon a Mldriff; others thought the column stank. As a matter of fact, one student came up to me and said, "The column stank."

Ruptured Gasket

Several people delayed me on my way to class one day to tell me how they nearly ruptured a gasket laughing at certain parts of the article. I marched into the classroom with the assurance of a man who had just won a Pulitzer prize. Then, three of my legal colleagues dropped over to inform me that they though the case of Marbury v. Madison had more humor in it than my recent offering. I was ready to swallow an economy-size dose of strychnine at that point.

Each Wednesday afternoon I get a letter from an anonymous devotee, who appraises the latest work. His comment on last week's column was that he felt that the humor was a bit "strained." Strained? Brother, it was squeezed!

One factor which often determines the success or failure of an article is the extent to which the readers recognize an old gag in new form. A great humorist once said that there are only seven original jokes from which all others may be traced. Perhaps my deficiency lies in the fact that I have found only five of these: the cafeteria, laundry, social rules for women, smoking, and Lb. Moore.

Sure-Fire Way

One sure-fire way of receiving general approval is to attack something which most students feel needs a knife in the back. There's only one drawback in resorting to this device: the knife nearly always strikes some individual or group, and from then on, that individual or group avoids me like an illegitimate child at a family reunion.

I figure that in the 20 or so columns I have written since last September, I have incurred the wrath of every person associated with the College, with the possible exception of Dr. Pomfret. The president has warned me that he has a cat o' nine tails and a set of train tickets to my home which he intends to employ if I so much as mention his name in the William and Mary-Go-Round. You may rest assured that the name, Dr. John Edwin Pomfret, will never appear in my column.

Nobody loves me anymore. At a recent class meeting, when the officers asked for suggestions as to how to improve the College,

"Get rid of King" led all other recommendations by a wide margin. Even my parents have stopped writing to me after my siege on the fair city of Washington.

There's only one thing for me to do: I must write a column attacking myself! Then I, too, may join the King Should Drop Dead Association.

Damn Everyone

Just to make sure that I haven't missed anyone, I herewith damn the North, South, East and West; freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students; fraternity men, sorority women and independents; faculty and administration; and a special damnation to all persons under seven feet tall.

To return to my analysis of a successful column, I remark that the many comments which I have heard in the past months assure me that there are three things which go over with my readers.

First, there is vulgarity. A passing mention of a toilet seat will insure the success of any column.

Second, a word or two of profanity produces amazing results. Readers just love to see verboten words in print. Did you ever notice how often James Joyce's Ulysses is checked out of the library? Don't tell me that all those people wish to wade in the stream of consciousness.

Third, there is sex. Freud must have been right. At least, people like to read about it.

And so, dear readers, to make certain that this column will be the most howling success of all, I now give you a triple quantity of your heart's desire.

Tribe To Play Wake Forest Tomorrow In SC Tourney

Wilson's Team Wins Berth By Tying For Eighth Place

Finishing the season in a three-way tie for eighth place in the Southern Conference standings, the William and Mary basketball team, along with nine others, has been invited to attend the loop tournament in Durham this week.

Other teams making the trip will be North Carolina State, number one team in the final regular standings, and North Carolina, Wake Forest, South Carolina, Duke, Davidson, Virginia Tech, Maryland and George Washington.

The opener tomorrow night pits Coach Barney Wilson's Indians against Wake Forest in the first game, with the Duke-South Carolina contest following. The W&M-Deacon winner faces N. C. State on Thursday at 7:30 P. M. with the semi-finals set for Friday night and the finals for Saturday.

William and Mary finished with a strong spurt to post an eight-and-seven record and clinch a bid to the tourney. The Braves took victories over VMI and the University of Richmond last week in their last two loop starts.

Dropping in 27 points, Giermak led his team to a 53-52 verdict over VMI at Lexington and then dropped in 19 as W&M handed the Spiders another setback, 52-47, in Blow Gym Saturday night. William and Mary led most of the way, holding a 29-24 halftime advantage. Fuzz McMillan added 11 points to the W&M total.

Jere Bunting played at the same amazing pace of the last three weeks, coming up with the ball time after time in order to prevent another shot at the Indians' basket. The Spiders, never counted out until the last buzzer, continued to match the locals.

The widest margin the Tribe was able to get was a nine-point lead with four and a half minutes to go, but the visitors attempted to rally and managed to score six points, while the Indians tallied only two before the game ended.

High scorer for the losers was Albert Rinaldi, a six-foot guard, who harassed William and Mary with his set shots. He totaled 16 points for the night.

Coach Wilson stated that the team would leave tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock and would return Sunday after the completion of the tourney. Making the trip will be Charlie Sokol, Charlie Teach, Chester Giermak, Jere Bunting, McMillan, Buddy Lex, Sherman Robinson, Bob Benjamin, Bob Holley, Johnny Green and Manager Bob Caines.

Bass Releases Baseball Card, Nine Home Games Included

Marvin Bass, who has been appointed head baseball coach for William and Mary, has released a 16-game schedule for the Indians, featuring nine Southern Conference games and a tilt with the University of Pennsylvania. He also announced that practice will begin tomorrow.

The slate, opening with Wesleyan University, of Middletown, Conn., on March 30, features nine home games, four of which are with Big Six teams.

Bass, with assistant coach Howard Smith, will have 10 or more lettermen on hand for the opening practice tomorrow. Included in this group are Tommy Koczowski, Ken Wright, infielder and outfielder; Dick Gaines, catcher; Leo Brenner, third baseman; pitchers Jim Stewart, Stan Magdziak and Bob Gill; Outfielders, Charley Unrue, Harry Robinson, and Olaf Hedman. Other men from last year's squad on hand are, Jack Riley, Bob McSherry, James Johnson, J. Onov and Buck Kitchen.

Coach Barney Wilson's Indian basketball team which goes to the Southern Conference tournament in Durham this week end owes much of its success to a coordinated style of play which started in the Virginia Tech game February 7 and allowed the Braves to win four of their last five conference games to squeeze under the wire for a bid.

Certainly a large part of the credit for the new and more aggressive style of play should go to the guards, Fuzzy McMillan and Jere Bunting, one of the best guard teams per foot in college basketball. It was their drive and perpetual-motion tactics which rescued the Braves from their slow start and brought a smoother and easier-to-watch game to Blow Gym.

Although McMillan has been a regular all season and is a strong candidate for all-state honors, Bunting didn't start playing regularly until the game with Duke.

In the last five games which the Braves played against Conference teams, they left little doubt that they could go right along with the league's leaders. They handed VPI its first state setback of the year and then lost a two-point decision to North Carolina in one of the best games of the year at Blow Gym. Guard play was instrumental in the fine showing of the team in each of these games and the victories over Washington and Lee, VMI and Richmond which followed.

With a well-balanced team taking the floor against the Indian foes, Wilson's team may be able to make plenty of trouble for the higher ranked teams of the conference in the playoff, and the Tribe mentor will have a nucleus of outstanding holdovers when next season rolls around.

Rugged Grid Workouts

Football practices now in progress have all the spirit and viciousness of autumn work, without some of the drawbacks which accompany the regular season work. The casualty list released by the Blow Gym headquarters last week placed Jack Cloud, Pat Haggerty and Bob Reinert among the victims of the off-season work.

Some of the full game scrimmages which accompany spring practice will help Coach McCray and the scores of "jockey-corner quarterbacks" to get an idea as to how the Tribe will shape up for 1948. If some of the men come along as they have shown promise of doing, William and Mary may have another bumper crop of grid victories, but anything could happen between now and the time the Redskins polish off their season with Arkansas.

Almost as many people turned out for the cheerleading try-outs as coach McCray has on the football squad, and the present pep squad was in the process of narrowing down the field of contenders last week. It must be said that the "new look" doesn't do a thing for the popular sport of leading cheers.

Plenty of interest is being shown, too, in the women's intramural basketball program which lists games in Jefferson gym on week nights. Playing under a set of rules beyond the conception of the average male fan, the gals have a game which is nevertheless interesting to follow.

William and Mary may not get a game to fill the empty October 23 date, and be forced to play a nine-game schedule. Such a slate would list contests with six big teams, and three little boys, Richmond, VMI and Davidson.

McCray Drills 58 Gridmen

Spring football practice has been underway for two weeks, with approximately 58 men working out under the tutelage of Coach R. N. (Rube) McCray and his assistants. The first sessions were devoted mainly to fundamental drills, with heavier work starting at the end of the first week when McCray ran his charges through a scrimmage.

Six men sustained minor injuries during the past week, including All-Southern fullback Jack Cloud. Cloud received a minor knee injury, but is expected to be back out shortly. Pat Haggerty had stitches taken in a cut on his heel and Bob Reinert has broken his nose twice. Ed Magdziak, Henry Blanc, and Moe Kish have also suffered slight injuries.

With 11 lettermen to be lost by graduation, the W&M mentors are surveying the field for men to fill these vacancies. One of the big problems, McCray stated, will be the blocking back post, as both Tom Mikula and Jack Hoey will be gone. The coaching staff however, has been very pleased with the performance of freshman Billy Harrison.

The freshman rule goes back into the books this year, but this regulation does not affect veterans such as Harrison. Another spot that is likely to be a headache is that of end.

Pool Ratings Offered

All those interested in their instructors rating should come to Blow pool, Thursday, March 4 at 7 P. M. Men and women who are either senior life savers or former instructors are invited to take the course.

Jayvee Courtmen Top Hampton High

The W&M Junior Varsity Basketball team downed Hampton High last Tuesday night 47-20. The JV's completely outclassed the home team and led throughout the contest. High scorers for the Little Indians were Seigert with 16 and Webb with 13. Bruce led the Hampton quintet, scoring eight points. The score at the half was 22-11 in favor of the Indians.

Although it is not definite as yet, the JV's may play Newport News High Thursday night in Newport News. Their record to date is six wins and seven losses, so the team would be anxious to store away a .500 season.

Indian Guards Spark Team To Victory

By Earle Copp

Basketball Coach Barney Wilson has recently put together a pair of fast moving guards in the persons of Ed (Fuzz) McMillan and Jere Bunting in order to improve his squad for the final dash to the wire.

Fuzz has been one of the starting guards for the Indians all year. His pre-season play impressed Wilson very early, and he showed the local fans his prowess in the first home game last December. McMillan had scored 207 points, second only to Chester Giermak, in spite of the fact that he is only 17 years old and a freshman in college.

He comes from Athens, Tenn., and was graduated from Tennessee Military Institute in 1946 where he had played basketball under "Tip" Smith. He entered William and Mary last fall.

Both Bunting and McMillan are 5-feet, 9-inches high, but Bunting has had a year's college experience. Jere was on Frosty Holt's quintet of '45-'46, as a starting forward and saw plenty of action.

Bunting began his organized basketball career at East Stone Gap High School. He made quite a record for himself in high school. He was captain of the football team for two years, and captain of basketball for one. Not only that, he was his class president for two years and was editor of the high school annual.

The 20-year old sophomore started this season with the varsity squad, but was shifted to Howard Smith's jayvees in January. There he got back his old form and came in to play with the first team in the game with Duke. Since then he has been hot as a firecracker, stealing balls from the opposition when the heat was on. So far he has totaled 54 points.

Though small, this pair of guards has incredible speed, getting up and down the floor as soon as the ball changes hands. They seem to have worked together in the art of grabbing the ball out of the hands of the opponents at the most opportune times.

"They have a lot of speed," Coach Wilson has said, "and a wonderful attitude. With a little more experience they will be good players for us." McMillan and Bunting will be the nucleus for the Indian squads for the next few years.

Mackiewicz Starred

When the Indians slammed VMI, 26-0, in Portsmouth in 1944 Chet Mackiewicz scored the first 20 points and set up the final touchdown with a 45-yard sprint.

Ted Uhler Scores 50 Points To Lead Post-war Pool Team

Ted Uhler was the lone bright spot on the first postwar W&M swimming team which completed its schedule last week against VPI. Of the 72 total points scored by the team, Uhler tallied 50, copping both the 100-yard and the shorter dash in each meet. During the regular season, he was undefeated.

Last week end, Uhler and Ken Bradley were the only members of the squad to participate in the state meet in Richmond. Uhler scored a third place in the 50-yard dash, while he and Bradley both failed to qualify in the other events. This was quite a surprise to those who had seen him in action during the season, especially since the winning times in both the 50- and 100-yard dashes were slower than his fastest clockings. This must be attributed to the occasional bad day that most athletes suffer at one time or another. It is unfortunate that it had to occur during an important meet.

From a spectator standpoint, the season was a rather poor one, but Coach Bob Schultz has expressed his satisfaction over the general improvement of his charges since the opening meet. He stated that meet results do not reveal the true facts concerning the improvement of the squad. The majority of the swimmers on the team this year had had little or no experience in competitive swimming. However, they all worked hard and progressed rapidly, as shown by the coach's stop watch. The team got off to a late start this season, commencing practices after Christmas. To have a well conditioned team, members must start in late October. Hope has been expressed for a more successful season next year, as all team members gained considerable experience this year.

Tankmen showing the most improvement during the season were Charles Platt, Jim Logan, Eli Richards, Jack Kite and Mark Waldo. Waldo, especially, had a string of close races, usually being defeated by the matter of only a few inches.

Track Squad Eyes Opener, Works Hard

The Indian cindermen, under the eye of Acting Coach John Brown, continued working out in the warm spring sunshine which obligingly appeared last week. The entire squad is training diligently, pointing for the opening meet with the Apprentice School on March 27.

Many of the sore and tight muscles sustained during the indoor sessions are beginning to respond to treatment. Calisthenics and three-quarter-speed drills have formed the complexion of the practices thus far, but beginning this week there will be more full speed work along with the exercises. Coach Al Thomas returned from Michigan and took over supervision of the team on Saturday. He is working to have the whole squad in prime condition by the time the opening meet rolls around.

George Sheehan, a letterman in the high jump last spring, has reported along with several newcomers. They are all receiving individual attention from Coach Thomas.

The initial outdoor time trials, originally scheduled for last week, have been postponed until next Saturday. At this time, an effort will be made by all squad members to post good comparative marks.

Sigma Rho Tops Fraternities; Three Independents Unbeaten

Sigma Rho continued on the undefeated path in the Fraternity Basketball League last week, downing a strong Phi Tau five, 38-33. The latter dropped to fourth place.

In other games Phi Tau defeated Lambda Chi by the lop-sided score of 77-39; Pi Lambda Phi edged out Theta Delt, 32-29; SAE romped over Sigma Pi, 54-26; Sigma Pi swamped Phi Alpha 59-9; Pi KA won over Kappa Sig 50-29; and KA took Pi Lambda Phi, 41-19.

In the Independent League, the Chicken Coopers won by a forfeit over Vets "C", the By-Passers edged the Rockets, 29-28, and the Sigma Roses won easily over the Geeks 35-19.

Pageant Try-outs Planned March 9

Try-outs for the annual water pageant presented by the Women's Water Safety Corps will be held Tuesday, March 9, at 8 P. M. in Blow Pool.

The Women's Water Safety Corps is an organization composed of the girls holding Senior Life Saver or Instructor ratings. Among other things, they sponsor the women's plunge period in Jefferson gym on Wednesday nights, and Blow Gym on Thursday nights, and are on call for life guard duty whenever a group wishes to use Jefferson pool. Each spring a water pageant is presented.

All girl swimmers, in addition to members of the corps, are eligible to try out for a part in the pageant this spring. Those interested in participating in the pageant are urged to attend the try-outs. Tentatively, the pageant will be presented at Blow Pool on May 14, and at the Williamsburg Inn on May 19.

Richmond Club Downs Women's Court Squad

On February 27, the William and Mary women's basketball team lost to the strong Richmond Club by a score of 24-8. Jean Moffett was high scorer for Richmond with 11 points followed by Buddy Blunt with eight. Frances Hawley led the squaws with four points.

Other men who have showed up well in practice are Moe Kish, Earl Massey, Jim McDowell, Lou Creekmur, and George Hughes.

Tommy Koreczowski, who broke his ankle early last fall, but recovered in time for the Dixie Bowl, has been excused from spring practice, and has been working out alone in the gym. Other men who have not yet reported are Buddy Lex, Harry Hilling, and Dick Hungerford, who are on the basketball squad, and will report immediately after completion of the cage season.

Skirts in Sports

By Jimmie Murphy

There has been some trouble this year, as usual, with getting people out and keeping them out for basketball. A large number of girls came out at the beginning of the year, but for many reasons, the number has dwindled. Last week the second-team game with Norfolk Division had to be cancelled because there weren't enough players to make both trips to Farmville and Norfolk.

Of course this was poor schedule planning, but when the schedule was arranged there were enough players to send two separate squads to the two games. Players have dropped out for many reasons—academic, which can't be helped, and for lack of interest, which is excusable since that should be the main reason people go out for varsity.

Many long winded discussions, pro and con, have been made concerning whether we should have varsity competition. My solution to this problem would be to have the girls participate in both varsity and intramural competitions. This would be retracing our steps and going back to two years ago, but it is always better to commit one self and admit a wrong before it is too late. Theoretically, it would be best to have the two groups segregated, but practically the only way that the varsity will ever be any good is for the women to be able to play both.

It has been shown this year in the intramurals that the best girls are out on the floor when the varsity plays. This should and could be remedied! More would play varsity if, and only if, they could play intramurals, not only to represent their sororities (it's awfully hard to sit on the bench and watch your team play, just because you play varsity), but also for the rather important reason that it is decidedly more fun to play intramurals. Neither schedule is so long that the players would get too worn out, which is the main argument against playing both. A season of ten games (which includes both seasons) is not too long.

Much more can be said about this problem but I think that the main question is whether we want a varsity that will really represent William and Mary or not.

Court Season For Women Nears Finish

The Women's Intramural basketball race is beginning to shape up, with the winner of League B almost certain and the winner of League A to be decided next week. Kappa is the only team undefeated in League B with four wins, and is not expected to have much trouble with Gamma Phi, which has yet to win. Alpha Chi and Chi O vie for League A honors when they meet Wednesday. Both teams have four wins and no losses.

The third week of intramural basketball games started last Tuesday with a game between Gamma Phi and Jefferson. The score was 20-14 for the latter, with Nancy Digges chalking up 13 points for the Jeffersonians. Martha Lamborn Aston was the star of the Gamma Phi team, scoring all of their 14 points.

Jerry Tuttle, with 19 points, showed the way for the Thetas who won over Tri Delta, 30-24.

The tall Kappas took the floor and trounced Jefferson 32-6 on Wednesday. All three Kappa forwards shared equally in making the goals.

Pi Beta Phi came on to win their game against Phi Mu by a slim margin, 17-11. Sally Adams and Virginia Moore contributed most of the goals for the Pi Phi team making eight and seven respectively. Nancy Ramseur and Lois Blake made all the points for the Phi Mu's.

Kappa handed an overwhelming 44-9 defeat to KD. The towering Kappa forwards took turns making goals with Betsy DeVol chalking up 18, and Barbara Humphrey, 16.

Kappa's second team then went on the floor and won over Gamma Phi, 10-7. In their second game of the week Kappa also captured a victory over Alpha Chi, 20-15.

Alpha Chi's first team, shooting for its fourth victory, played a superb game and came out victorious, 32-16, over a fighting Chandler team. Peggy Moser, Barbara Campbell and Dottie Ellett, the three Alpha Chi forwards, demonstrated remarkable teamwork and all of them shared in making the points.

In the afternoon Dr. Murray Kantor, Dr. Sidney Rome, Dr. Balmer Kelly and Dr. Theodore Wedel took charge of the various discussion groups in which many students participated.

In the evening worship service in Phi Beta Kappa Hall Dr. Nelson tied together the findings of the discussion groups and fully explained the questions which arose at these meetings.

Class Of 1950 Plans For Picnic

Scenic Yorktown will be the location for a sophomore class picnic, sometime in May, Johnny Dayton, class president has announced.

The picnic, according to Dayton, will be open only to those members who have paid their class dues to one of 14 newly-appointed student collectors. Payment of the dues will entitle each student to a membership card which permits his attendance at all sophomore class social events.

Dayton also said that he has been authorized by a vote at the last class meeting to "oppose any voting procedure which would bring about a closed vote" for class officers.

Captain Sawyer Of Marine Corps To Interview Students For Reserve

Marine Captain Alex H. Sawyer will visit William and Mary on Thursday and Friday, March 4 and 5, to interview qualified students who are interested in earning a commission in the Marine Corps Reserve. Captain Sawyer will be in the Wren Building, second floor corridor, from 9 A. M. to noon and from 1 P. M. to 4 P. M. on these dates.

Captain A. H. Sawyer

William and Mary is one of many accredited institutions at which potential officers are selected for training in the Platoon Leader's class. Under this program it is possible for freshmen, sophomores and juniors to receive officer candidate training during the summer vacation months, thereby allowing complete attention to academic subjects during the regular school year. Students selected for the training are enrolled in the Marine Corps Reserve, inactive, and are assigned to officer candidate training duty only upon their written requests.

After successful completion of the required periods of military training and after graduation from colleges with a baccalaureate degree, Platoon leaders are eligible for appointment to the commissioned ranks as second lieutenants.

To be eligible for the Platoon Leaders class applicants must not be members of any other military organization, including the army or naval ROTC. They must be unmarried and agree to remain so until completion of the advanced course of summer military training. They must sign an agreement to serve for the required periods of active duty training and, if veterans, must have received an honorable discharge. Applicants must not have a claim pending for, or be drawing, a pension, disability allowance, or retired pay from the government of the United States. Folders describing further requirements and other features of the Platoon Leaders class may be secured from the office of John E. Hocutt, dean of men.

WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS

Here, in our First President's own handwriting, is part of the far-sighted speech he delivered to the American people 152 years ago. The spirit of the doctrine still applies. It calls for a firm unity among our people, emphasizing, above all, the need for "every citizen to take pride in the name of an American." The original is now aboard the "Freedom Train"—a traveling exhibit of the most significant documents in our history.

Dayton Reports Plan Of New Radio Station

At the last regular meeting of the Student Assembly a motion was passed and carried to find out the campus opinion of the no-smoking regulations. The poll was taken the following day with the result that 81 per cent of the voters opposed the measure.

John Dayton then gave a report on the proposed college radio station for the benefit of the college students only. The station would make announcements to the student as well as provide music and entertainment. The greatest resistance to the plan comes from the Federal Communications Commission, Dayton said that if he receives co-operation, he and a few members of the college will work on the college station this summer.

Bob Cartwright stated that all clubs must hold their elections before April 1.

Delegates Attend YWCA Meeting At Natural Bridge

YWCA President Dee Isele and Molly Gerberich were delegates over the week end of February 20 to the Natural Bridge Winter Conference of the YWCA.

The conference is an annual affair sponsored by the YM and YWCA of the University of North Carolina and is designed to promote interest in the Association and afford opportunities for the discussion of current problems in college life and world affairs.

Friday's program featured a discussion of The Complexities of Our Age. Dr. Cameron Hall, member of the Federal Council of Churches, presented the national aspects and Dr. Frank Hanft, S. J. D., member of the law school at the University of North Carolina, gave the international viewpoint.

Saturday morning there were commissions to discuss political, economic and racial tensions and student life in today's colleges. Molly contributed to the commission entitled You As a Student; Dee to the Panorama of Campus Social Life.

Another YWCA conference is to be held in Richmond on the week end of March 5 and Dee expects to have delegates there.

George Sheehan Urges Contributions For Campus Red Cross Unit Drive

"You turn to the Red Cross many times a year and they turn to you but once," said George Sheehan, president of the local Red Cross chapter, in urging contributions for the national drive which began yesterday, and will last through Saturday, March 6.

To raise the funds for the $800 campus goal the following people have been appointed dorm representatives: June Mercer, Chandler; Leslie Morgan, Barrett; Jan Pierce, Jefferson; John Dayton, Morris House; David Steck, Taliaferro; Allen Keys, Tyler; Bud Grady, Richmond Road dorms; Jean Morgan, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Anna Moore, Alpha Chi; Fran Fleming, Delta Delta Delta; Garry Garrison, Pi Beta Phi; Mary Anna McKinney, Kappa Delta; B. B. Rollins, Gamma Phi Beta; Dolores Desmond, Phi Mu; Peggy Barnes, Chi Omega, and Jim Logan, Old Dominion. Frances Saunders is the chairman of the town committee which also includes Etta Lou Wilson, Caroline

Geddy, Jerry Jerow, Sally Fitchett, Hallie Rennie, Sue Green, Joseph Barrett, Herbert Tucker, Joe Buchanan, Clem Vaughan, Steve Taylor, Aruthur Thompson, Bob Cook, John Hopkins and Peg Philhower.

In launching the drive Sheehan also pointed out some of the recent accomplishments of the local Red Cross chapter. The college unit sent 100 Christmas boxes to patients at Kecoughtan, the veterans' hospital, decorated the wards and also sent several dozen tray mats. Members of the unit help in the wards at Eastern State hospital, and several girls are serving as staff assistants on the town unit. The Red Cross also will again be responsible for the backing and production of the annual water pageant which will be presented sometime in the spring.

Dr. E. M. Foltin Addresses Law Club

Dr. Edgar M. Foltin, head of the psychology department, addressed the Wythe Law Club last Wednesday evening in the Apollo Room on the subject of Might and Right: the Present Legal Situation in Austria.

In a colorful talk, Dr. Foltin reviewed his experiences while serving as Chief of the United States legal division, Allied Control Commission for Austria, 1946-47.

Illustrating his thesis that law-making is impotent without adequate means for enforcement, Dr. Foltin told of the difficulties of administering the Austrian De-nazification law which virtually bars one-eighth of Austria's eight million citizens from participation in public and business life until 1950, and bars implicated Nazis forever. He also outlined the difficulties of negotiating with the Russian officials, stating that they were "formidable and uncompromising." A question period followed the principal address.

The Wythe Law Club is the student organization of William and Mary's law school. This semester, the club plans to invite prominent members of the Virginia bench and bar to speak at its Wednesday evening meetings.

IRC Lists Semester Program

Club To Discuss International Questions

The International Relations Club this semester intends to sponsor a series of programs on international questions and domestic questions with international significance, which are of a controversial nature in an attempt to increase the interest of the student body in present day issues.

"All students on the campus who are interested in the subjects being discussed are urged to attend these meetings even though they are not members of the club," declared John Fritz, president.

The first meeting of this new series was held last Tuesday. The subject of discussion was Universal Military Training. Horace (Hunky) Henderson, a member of the Williamsburg Jaycees and the Williamsburg Post of the American Legion, both of which have endorsed the president's UMT program, presented the positive side of the argument.

He stressed the need for adequate security as long as world conditions remain unsettled and presented facts concerning the armed strength of the United States at the present time and the features of the UMT program.

Dr. Charles O. Lerche, assistant professor of government and advisor of the IRC, presented the negative side of the argument. Dr. Lerche stated that he doubted that UMT would give the United States the security which its proponents claim it will and stressed the fact that the United States would lose its position as a moral force in world affairs if it adopted such a program.

A similar program is being planned for the next meeting on March 9, the subject for discussion being Should Congress Outlaw the Communist Party in the United States?

English College Agrees To Take Exeter Hopefuls

University College, Southampton, England, has agreed to accept the William and Mary and University of Virginia undergraduates who had planned to go to Exeter.

Previously the British summer schools had arranged their work for graduate students. The program of studies is similar to that planned for Exeter. When the composition of the group and its wishes concerning travel are known, the travel program will be worked out. Southampton is an excellent center for visits to all southern England, the Midlands, and the area about London. Overnight service to St. Malo on the French coast may make possible a visit to St. Michel and Brittany.

Congress has now enacted the legislation necessary for the assignment of the former troopships to cultural relations service, so it now appears that shipping is assured. By her lobbying activities in Washington, Jean Morgan, a William and Mary student, contributed to the passage of the measure.

Dr. W. Warner Moss, head of the government department, asks that students planning to make the trip see him in 319 Marshall-Wythe at the earliest opportunity since their applications must be filed with the Institute of International Education as soon as possible.

James Cogar, curator of Colonial Williamsburg, spoke on England Today and showed color-chrome slides of England, Scotland and Ireland, which he took this summer on a trip, at a recent meeting of the Scarab Society.
